Toledo Will Not Train Here.

A clearer demonstration of the utter need of a first class hotel in this city was never made than when on Tuesday President George B. Wild, of the Toledo, O. base ball club, which was scheduled to train here next spring, reached the decision that Paris would not do, owing to his inability to secure hotel accommodations for the members of the club.

President Wild for several months past has been in communication with President Bacon, of this city, and it was announced last week from headquarters in Toledo that Paris had been selected as the proper place for the training of the team. President Wild came to Paris Tuesday to look over the field and make all necessary arrangements before the club would be started this way.

However, as is usually the case in such instances, hotel accommodations were the only drawback. President Wild liked the town and was much pleased with the appearance of White Park, even in the middle of the winter, but the necessary quarters for the club could not be secured.

It was the intention of President Wild to bring here next spring twenty five men to go into training but he was compelled to look elsewhere and went over to Lexington where he secured quarters and his club will go to that city March 15 to enter training.

THEATRICAL.

FIELD HERE TOMORROW NIGHT.

Of Al. G. Field's Minstrel, which is the attraction at the Grand tomorrow night, at the Terre Haute, Ind., Star says:

"From the rise of the curtain on the southern cotton picking scene to the inspiring picture of Commodore Perry's victory on Lake Erie, the production of Al. G. Field's minstrels was received with round after round of applause. Even during the short intermission there was a continual chuckling, laughing and rubbing of sides while the pleased playgoers sought to regain composure from the effects of the base ball game between the Darktown Blues and the Tar Babies."

"From a scenic standpoint and ability to maintain interest it is the best offering Mr. Field has brought to Terre Haute in his long run of Thanksgiving visits. Pleasant memories of former years brought out capacity audiences for both performances. Mr. Field was delighted at the reception given his organization. Every member of the company appeared in bold, y mood and determined to do his best."

"There always is something new in the Field show. Then another thing is that the strength is not exhausted by music and popular ballads in the first scene. The olio apparently becomes better and the comedy livelier until the final scene. One of the new offerings the show is proud of this season is Bert Swor, fun maker extraordinary. Swor is a Texas product, but his humor goes everywhere. As pitcher for the Darktown Blues he is a scream, and when he takes command of the cooks' army on the Mexican frontier it is so much faster that it even sets off the powder magazine."

"Then there is John Healy, with the best of his old line and a lot of new stuff. Healy made friends with Terre Haute some several years ago and has not lost his grip. He still cuts the bad jokes from the big book and his every little movement, also standing still, means laughter."

"Doc Quigley and Governor Bowen still carry the heavy part in the dancing novelties, and they have a clever line. Quigley does a bird cage and goes behind the bat in the ball game, while Bowen helps Healy umpire. Quigley also leads the dancers in a really artistic number in 'The Quilting Party,' which also affords lots of fun."

Circuit Court.

Circuit court convened Wednesday morning following the adjournment of Tuesday to allow the attorneys and court officials to attend the inauguration. The case of Virgil Barton against Josh Barton's administrator, the testimony of which was completed Monday afternoon, was again called and the jury returned a verdict of $1,500 in favor of the plaintiff. The amount sued for was $2,300.

In the case of the Commonwealth against Dan Elite, under indictment for malicious striking and wounding, the jury after deliberating for several hours could not reach an agreement.

Walter Johnson, a negro under indictment for malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill was tried yesterday. The case consumed nearly all of the day and resulted in the jury returning a verdict of guilty. He will be given an intermediate sentence of from one to five years.

The case of the Commonwealth against William McCoy, a negro, was called yesterday afternoon and the jury was secured after some little difficulty. The trial of the case was entered into and two witnesses were examined before court adjourned. The taking of the testimony will be resumed this morning. McCoy is under indictment for the murder of Frazier White, a negro, at the fair grounds during the colored fair.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Stout set aside the order of assignment for the civil cases to come up at this term and six were continued until the March term. The action of Judge Stout is due to the fact that the Commonwealth case, indictments which were found at this term, and in the cases where the defendants were confined in the county jail demanding immediate trial.

Entertainment a Grand Success.

A large audience was present at the Grand Opera House Wednesday evening to witness Mrs. Reed's Delsarte entertainment and the event proved to be one of a most delightful character. The tableaux, drill, recitations and vocal selections were highly entertaining.

The entertainment opened with the Grecian Drill participated in by twenty-four young ladies and the manner in which they executed the most intricate parts, reflected great credit upon their preceptress.

The recitations of Miss Nannette Wallingford and Miss Mary Hayden added greatly to the evening's entertainment, while the solos of Miss Birdie Wollstein and the selection by the quartette composed of Prof. A. H. Morehead, Prof. Stackhouse and Messrs. Wallace Clark and Prentice Lancaster are to be highly complimented.

A feature which afforded much amusement was the working song participated in by about forty boys and girls. Each member did their parts well and the costuming added to a great extent to the success of this part of the program.

The entertainment came to a close with a drill by the young gentlemen bedecked in feminine apparel which occasioned much mirth and kept the audience continually guessing as to the identity of the participants. On the whole the entertainment was one of the best of the kind ever given in the city.
